

FAITH AT HOME

Greetings!

""For I know the plans I have for you ... plans to prosper you and not to harm you, plans to give you hope and a future.""
Jeremiah 29:11

A New Birth to a Living Hope

During difficult times we are moved to pray, but words don't always come easily. This simple, three-part format for prayer is offered for individuals, families, and online groups who wish to pray about - and through -COVID-19 pandemic.

During this time of distancing and separation, it is important to remember that we are always united as members of the Body of Christ, especially when we pray, and in communion with the saints, who continue to intercede on our behalf.

National Day of Prayer

Today is the National Day of Prayer. Different religions all over the world will give special attention to prayer today. Click here to learn more about the National Day of Prayer.

Grab a bell of any kind and ring it at noon today. People around the world will celebrate prayer by chiming bells at the same time.

Choose one or more of these unique types of prayer to engage in an extra special prayer today. You can use these prayer ideas on other days too. Don't limit your prayer just for today!

Teacher Appreciation Week::Thank you Teachers!

For Teacher Appreciation Week, these beautiful signs have been popping up every day showing gratitude to our SJV teachers. The teachers and staff of SJV are so grateful to our students and families for making these signs. The signs are the perfect reminder of how important teachers AND students are to a school! We all miss each of our students very much! Thank you to our SJV Home & School Association, the Teacher Appreciation Week committee and to our SJV families.
